COLD SNAP

The thermometer has registered below freezing most of the time for the past 24 hours, and grave fears are entertained for the safety of early fruit, although H. F. Hillemeier, of Lexington, the noted horticulturist, states that the freeze will benefit rather than hurt the fruit crop, and says prospects for a large crop of fruit were never better in Kentucky.

Governor Pardons George Alexander

Morrow Gives as His Reason, Alexander's Broken Health and Advanced Age

George Alexander, who wrecked the Alexander Bank of Paris and whose peculations from the deposits of hundreds in that institution amounted to $250,000, was pardoned yesterday by Governor Morrow.

It is understood that a position has been promised Alexander by a friend in the East, in the event of his release.

Alexander has served five years in the Frankfort Reformatory, having entered that institution February 19, 1915, to serve an indeterminate sentence of seven to seventy years. He had pleaded guilty December 21, 1914, to seven of thirty-two indictments against him and was sentenced on each to serve a term of from one to ten years. Consequently he would not be eligible to parole until 1922.

The plea of poor health was made successively to Governors McCreary, Stanley and Black, each of whom refused to pardon the ex-banker on that account. During Stanley's administration it was represented that he was dying. Public sentiment has been strongly against Alexander, and for that reason the other Governors declined to act. Mack Phythian, former Warden, said that Alexander shows signs of feebleness. He is advanced in years, being nearly 70.

Alexander's bank was closed May 19, 1914, by Banking Commissioner Thomas Jefferson Smith. The bank was one of the oldest of its kind, having been organized in 1894. Three days after the bank was closed Alexander was arrested on three warrants charging him with misappropriating funds, making false entries and making false reports to the Banking Commissioner. Bond of $50,000 was furnished quickly by half a dozen citizens.

Officials liquidating the affairs of the bank found accommodation papers denied by its makers, dead notes and other worthless paper and overdrafts totaling $141,455 and afterward more than $100,000 worth of claims developed. Thirty-two indictments were returned by the grand jury, eleven charging embezzlement, fifteen for receiving deposits after knowing the bank was insolvent, three for unlawfully altering paper in the custody of the bank, two for altering the books and one for making false entry.

Alexander waived formal examination July 14, 1914, and was held for trial in $64,000 bond. Arraigned for trial November 23, he entered pleas of not guilty, but the story of his

Moonshiner Captured

Bud Blankenship, alleged owner and operator of a moonshine still, was captured in Bath county Friday by prohibition officers Hanna and Guilfoile. He was brought to this city and tried Saturday morning before U. S. Commissioner W. H. Wood. Blankenship waived his examining trial and was held under $500 bond to appear before Judge Cochran in February. Blankenship is the son-in-law of Jeff Ballard, who, with his two sons, Albert and Robert Ballard, was captured and convicted of a like offense several weeks ago.

THRILLS IN "SHOULD A HUSBAND FORGIVE?"

An Arkansas race track was engaged for the photographing of the horse racing scenes in "Should a Husband Forgive?" the big William Fox special which will be seen on Friday at the Tabb Theatre. Thus it was possible to get the most exciting racing scenes ever shown on the screen and also to accomplish the unusual objective of having Miriam Cooper, who plays Ruth Fulton in the picture, actually ride a horse in jockey's garb in a real race.

Miss Cooper is an expert horsewoman, but she was slightly nervous at the prospect of riding in a bona fide race until R. A. Walsh, the director, reassured her.

"Go in and win, Miss Cooper," he said. "You've got the best horse on the track and if any jockey tries to crowd you just mention the matter to the horse and he'll move a little faster."

Miss Cooper tried that very thing, with the result that she won the race by a narrow margin in a blanket finish.

TO UNDERGO OPERATION

Miss Kate Alexander, of Paris and Lexington, left yesterday for Cleveland, where she will undergo an operation at Dr. Crile's Hospital. Miss Alexander is well known and very popular in this city, and her many friends are hoping she may soon be restored to health.

Be sure and see "Tommy's Wife" at the Tabb Theatre Thursday night, April 8th. It's a High School attraction.

Peculations was drawn from him on the stand. The trial resulted in a hung jury, which stood eleven for conviction and one for acquittal. A special term of court was called for December 21, and then, Alexander pleaded guilty to each of seven indictments.

A few hours after he entered the reformatory Mrs. Edith Bronston, Alexander's daughter by his first wife, died at Massie Hospital, Paris. Depositors to date have received about 65 per cent. of their losses.

Pere Zannichelli, an Italian boy from Floyd county, convicted of murder, was also granted executive clemency.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse T. Evans announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Alta Frances, to Mr. Frank M. Hill. The wedding will occur at an early date, and the young couple will make their home in this city. Miss Evans is one of Mt. Sterling's loveliest young girls and is very popular in social circles here. She is unusually pretty and is a talented musician. Mr. Hill is the son of Mrs. Ida Hill, and was born and reared in this city. He has for many years been connected with the Montgomery National Bank and is considered one of the foremost business men of Mt. Sterling.

County is Visited by a Near Cyclone

A small cyclone passed over this county Sunday afternoon about two o'clock and considerable damage was done to property in the neighborhood of Camargo. A garage owned by Allie Treadway was blown across the road and deposited in a field opposite his place.

J. Ray Moss' residence and barn were damaged by the high wind, as were barns owned by James Green and Frank Horton.

Little Ruth Willoughby Burned to Death

Horrible Death Results From the Handling of a Match Too Near Gas Regulator

A lighted match dropped into the reducing regulator of the gas main on Richmond avenue Saturday morning caused the death a few hours later of Ruth Willoughby, the eleven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Croxton Willoughby. The little girl and her brother, Lincoln Willoughby, were walking on Richmond avenue on their way to see their grandmother, Mrs. Arida Conkright, when the accident occurred. The boy dropped the match, igniting the gas and causing a terrific explosion that was heard several blocks away. The flames were scattered in all directions and set fire to the clothing worn by the children. Attracted by their screams, passersby hurried to the rescue, but not until both children were badly burned. They were taken in an automobile to the office of Dr. McKenna, who, with the assistance of Dr. Knox, dressed their wounds, and accompanied by their father and L. L. Keagle, of this city, the children were taken to Lexington to the St. Joseph Infirmary, the little girl dying a short time after reaching the hospital. Her brother is in a serious condition, and is not expected to live, kidney trouble having developed as a result of his injuries.

The body of the dead girl was brought back to this city Saturday night and interred in the family burial ground at Jeffersonville, Monday. Mrs. Willoughby is prostrated by the accident and the family has the sympathy of everybody in the community in their great sorrow.

Clay Miller Is Welcomed to Somerset

The following article from the pen of "Uncle Bill" Schooler in the Commonwealth, of Somerset, Ky., will be of interest to the many friends of Clay Miller:

"When Clay Miller, of Mt. Sterling, Kentucky, walked into the Commonwealth office the other day and gave us the handy mit, we were happy. We well remember when Clay left the historic Grassy Lick creek, in Montgomery county, and came to Mt. Sterling and started on the road that the 'devil' has to trod if he ever makes a printer. Young Miller was made of the stuff that it takes to make a success, and in a short time he had mastered the trade, and was running an office of his own—and when he sold it a few weeks ago it was one of the best equipped printing plants that his home town ever had. Mr. Miller sold out on account of his health. He is now a citizen of Somerset, having taken charge of the 'Print Shop' at the High School building. Of all the 'devils' that we have turned out on the cold world, none of them, not even the preacher, stands any higher in the social and business world than Miller. He was married a few years ago to one of Kentucky's most worthy women, and to that union has been given two beautiful children, a boy and a girl, and Mr. Miller is very proud of his happy little family. We have known Clay Miller from infancy, and he is one of the best all 'round printers we ever knew, and we take pleasure in stating to the good citizenship of Somerset, that no better or more worthy citizen ever entered within our gates."

Aids to Grace & Beauty

By Priscilla Dean

How and When to Wash the Face

Washing the face seems a simple matter. Longfellow, you know, reminded us that things are not what they seem. And I am going to remind you that even washing the face is not an "empty dream," but a stern reality. Beauty demands it; cleanliness requires it. Not more than one person in ten performs the feat properly. It requires practice. Practice, we know, makes perfect. So if you want your face the perfection of beauty you must first learn to wash it. If you have already learned the method and have neglected to put it in practice you need not be surprised that your face already shows evidence of that neglect.

The time to wash the face is at night. The morning bath is to refresh one after sleep. The night ablution is to remove the dust and grime of the day. If the face is washed properly at night and the pores cleansed of all the accumulation of dust and grease, the surface of the skin will be left fresh and sanitary, the blood can circulate freely and the hair cells perform their function without germ contamination. Prominent dermatologists as well as public health officials do not hesitate to say that by allowing the face to remain unwashed over night people openly invite skin diseases and other ailments such as influenza, infantile paralysis and similar infections.

White castile soap is the best to use for cleansing the face. Some authorities advise applying this soap with a small, camel's hair brush, dipped into fairly hot water, and that for coarse skins, or for those exposed to extreme dirt and grease such as in mills, factories and machine shops, a turkish towel glove or wash cloth should be used. The use of sponges is discouraged by these same authorities, who claim that the latter are uncleanly and good germ carriers.

Two or three changes of tepid water should be used in rinsing off the soap after the face has been vigorously rubbed. In drying the face always use a soft towel and draw it lightly in an upward direction. Rubbing the face roughly in all directions is harmful. Eventually it will make the skin flabby and wrinkled. Toilet waters, too, are usually injurious. They nearly always contain some ingredient which robs the skin of its fat, leaving it dry and harsh.

People with very delicate skins who wash their faces well at night frequently prefer to cleanse the face in the morning with cold cream instead of water. This tends to prevent chapping, but is an excellent catch-all for dust throughout the day, and therefore makes the night bath all the more important.

If, at any time, you find that the soap you use irritates the skin, be assured it contains some impurity and discard it at once. For whitening the skin it does not harm to use a few drops of tincture of benzoin in the rinsing water. The benzoin has a slight aromatic odor that is decidedly pleasing and also serves to close the pores.

After washing the face at night it is a good plan to massage it gently with the finger tips, always rubbing upward with a slight, circular motion and then dust on a little pure rice powder or potato starch. All powders that contain lead, arsenic or bismuth of mercury are very injurious.

The use of cream and powder after washing is especially necessary for people who are about to go out into the sun or wind. The face, however, should be well dried before applying the cream, otherwise it will be uneven and the result is such as can be seen daily on any street or in any theatre.

Both powder and rouge can be used wisely and well, even to such extent as to be impossible of detection. And again, they can be applied with such lack of skill as will make a beautiful woman hideous. For women who want to use rouge I would suggest that the face of a normal, healthy, playing child should be studied. The flush in the child's face, you will notice, is not in one huge spot high on the cheek bones. It blends gradually across the upper part of the cheek to the white spot directly on a line with the lobe of the ear. Then it gradually grows pinker in the lower part of the cheek, but not so pink as above. The center of the chin and the center of the forehead are also slightly flushed and sometimes the lobes of the ears. It is all a smooth shading from white to pink, and back to white again. People who teach the proper way of "making up" usually lay considerable stress upon the importance of "blending" the powder and rouge.

Personally, I do not like lip-salve. It is hard to apply so it will not be noticeable and when it is noticeable it ceases to be an attribute of beauty. In such case it becomes truly an addition and no improvement. I am speaking, of course, to people "off stage." On the stage and before the camera many things are necessary in the way of make-up which no one could possibly admire in a business office, in the home or on the street.

Many women and young girls apply cosmetic in a manner that makes them appear grotesque. Sometimes I wonder if they live in dark rooms or have no mirrors. Surely they cannot know what a fearful and wonderful appearance they make. On the contrary they usually seem to be under the delusion that they are exceedingly attractive. Once upon a time I attempted to unravel the mysterious "why" of their false belief. This is what I discovered:

A charming home, well-kept, heavily curtained, a dim subdued light everywhere. No high lights, not even in the dainty little dressing room off the bed room. Everything was artistic, but every light was shaded in some neutral tint that could not possibly reveal a defect or an over-supply of powder on the face of the charming little woman who stood there, adjusting her hat preparatory to going to a matinee. She was very pretty. I had always admired her. Also I had always wondered why she persisted in marring her sweet face with such a "clown-like" make-up. Now I knew. Her reflection, as it appeared in her mirror was perfect. When we stepped forth into the sunshine of the street the effect was ghastly. The moral is obvious.

Every woman who uses powder and rouge off stage should apply the "make-up" before a mirror that is close to a window, where the lights can stream down upon the dressing table and illuminate it, not with the shade drawn down to a precise line with the mirror, thus hiding all blemishes.

A woman who has no favorable window position for her dressing mirror can always, before leaving the house, take a hand mirror and, standing beside a widow or open door, inspect her face critically. If all women would make this a practice I am positive the majority would never leave the house until they had removed, or, at least, improved their self-inflicted beauty mask. The woman I have referred to was naturally so pretty that her badly applied make-up was a real blemish. There are many others like her.

Many are the signs that Republican candidates will expect to ride into office and power next November on the railroad bill. It is the only affirmative thing the G. O. P. has done in a special session of more than six months and a regular session of four months—and that bit of legislation is of very doubtful value. In comparison with the important work left undone, and even untouched, this single enactment will not be very imposing.

Boy Who Does Not Play Marbles Fairly Is Likened to Nation Without Honor

"There's Sammy Perkins calling you, Bobby; don't you hear him?" asked Betty, looking up from her books at her brother who sat across from the table.

"O-O-O!" came Sammy's voice through the closed windows.

"Yes, I hear him, but I'm not going out to play with him. He cheats," replied Bobby, making no move to respond to the call.

Mrs. Blake got up and went to the door and told Sammy that Bobby was not coming out. Then she came back and asked Bobby to tell her all about it.

"It was not right to refuse to answer when he called," she said, "so I went to the door and spoke to him. I did not want to tell him why until I heard your story, because I did not want to accuse him wrongfully. If he does cheat you are quite right not to play with him, and you must be frank and tell him why. That will be the greatest kindness you can do him. Now, what makes you call him a cheat?"

"Well, when we were playing marbles the other day he counted wrong and took five that did not belong to him because he thought I did not know it. And he pushed two or three from Jake's pile over to his own with his foot when he thought no one saw him. And at school he cut his desk and told his teacher it was another boy. He's getting so

The part that fine steels play in a MAXWELL

There is a definite reason for the brilliant performance of a Maxwell car.

Lift the bonnet and you see the simplest of engines. Examine clutch and gears, and you see supreme simplicity.

The definite reason for Maxwell performance and endurance is the fine steels, those steels built to Maxwell's own formulas, that combine quality and rare strength, that defy time and the repairman.

This is the story of the Maxwell, the real cause for brilliant performance and long endurance. These steels do not burden the engine. They make its tasks easier. They flatten out a hill for the engine.

The combination of light weight and great strength—the ideal of Maxwell construction—is thus achieved.

And to obtain that rare combination of strength with quality means costly steels. So you will find that, pound for pound, the steels in a Maxwell equal those in any car built.

That is why the rise of Maxwell has been so marked; why nearly 400,000 have been built; why 100,000 are being constructed this year; why these will fill but 60% of the demand.

that none of the fellers will play with him any more, and I won't either."

"Are you sure he does these things," asked Mrs. Blake.

"Why, yes, I am sure. I've seen him cheat any number of times and I've told him so."

"If you are very sure he does act that way, Bobby, you are right, and so are the other boys who refuse to play with him. And you are right to tell him why—perhaps you can teach him to do better."

"And I've told him a dozen times to cut it out, but he tries to sneak every chance he gets."

"Poor boy, he is very unfortunate," commented Mrs. Blake. "A cheat cheats himself worse than anybody else. Bring him to me sometime, Bobby, and let me talk to him. I don't want to see him going wrong without doing something to try to put him right."

"Every mean act he does lowers his character by just so much, and if he continues this way he has a terrible life ahead of him. As he is losing all of his boy friends now by his dishonest ways, he will continue to find himself shunned by respectable people as he gets older and finally will have no companions but bad men."

"That is the worst fate that could happen to anyone. No amount of riches could ever make up for loss of respect—self-respect and respect of others. When one loses that he is about through. And that is just as true of a nation as of a person."

"No other country had any respect for Germany after she went back on her word. Her death knell began telling when she referred to her promises as a 'scrap of paper.'"

"No one wants German bonds. But your Uncle Sam's promises are as good as gold, because everyone knows his word is always kept. Everyone knows that Liberty Bonds will be paid when due. They have Uncle Sam's word for that."

"Well, mother, I'll let Perkins come in when I hear him call again, and if you can't persuade him to come clean, we'll take up a collection to send him to Germany."

Pretty soon the people will begin to inquire into the accomplishments of the Republican Congress, and that will be one investigation that the G. O. P. won't welcome.

DOWN TO THE LAST DOLLAR

An Inscription on a Ragged Piece of Paper Money Tells Sad Story

A worn and tattered dollar bill, could it speak in any other voice than that with which "money talks," might give to the world many a tale, sad or glad, of its experiences as it takes its way from purse to purse.

One which did really tell its tale drifted not long ago, into the coffers of an eastern Y. M. C. A. As brief as the "short and simple annals of the poor," and much more pathetic, ran the story, inscribed across the greenback: "The last of a mis-spent fortune. (Signed) _____."

No such sorry confession will ever be made by the man or woman who has early learned the habit of thrift. Begin now to save regularly, and to teach your children the value of thrift.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR BETTER ROADS

We indeed feel gratified that good sound business men are showing such a deep interest in the condition of the roads of Montgomery county and the thought and work a number of them are devoting to the subject is certain to result in permanently constructed roads in the near future. When such men put their shoulders to the wheel results are bound to follow, and, although we are reliably informed the amount of a county's indebtedness is limited by law to 2 per cent. of the taxable property, we believe a way will be devised whereby the two state projects previously mentioned in this paper may be constructed by the county and have the money refunded by the state when same is completed. "Where there is a will there is a way," and we believe in this instance THERE IS A WILL, and a way will be found whereby we may benefit by these two great thoroughfares, not in the distant future. Let's continue to talk permanently constructed roads, and it will not be long until the desired goal will be achieved.

QUALITIES THAT MAKE SUCCESS

"A great many people I know believe in luck," said Mrs. J. E. Curtiss, manager of the employment department of the Remington Typewriter Company, to a writer in Forbes Magazine (N. Y.). "Personally I don't. One may have all sorts of opportunities and never make good.

"And now I want to tell you some of the characteristics I've found essential in business.

"Punctuality is a great help. Those who get to their work a little ahead of time, and finish up a big piece of work rather than close their desks the moment the office clock strikes, those who're willing and loyal—such are the ones who will succeed.

"Sincerity, frankness, cheerfulness, optimism are simple, but essential characteristics in the business girl.

"The simple steps that lead up to success are all human, attainable, apparently trivial things, but they are tremendously important. For, after all, human nature isn't mechanical, and it isn't intricately geared. It is simple and get-at-able and the simple qualities get at the heart of the matter."

THREE BIG STARS IN NEW SERIAL

The names of three stars are mentioned in connection with the new Western serial to be shown at the Tabb Theatre Friday. "The Masked Rider" is one of those thrilling and sensational serials that is made once in so many moons. Rath Stonehouse, Paul Panzer and Harry Myers are the stars and they are well known in every town where pictures are shown.

In making this Western serial the company of artists were constantly in danger from the many thrilling and daring stunts they were called upon by the director to do. Day after day new stunts were devised by Director Kennedy, each more daring and more difficult than the others. Only one serious accident occurred to any of the actors. Paul Panzer was laid up for several days and is still suffering slightly from the damage.

Director Aubrey M. Kennedy, who directs "The Masked Rider," is one of the oldest film men in this country. He was formerly manager of production for Goldwyn and produced such pictures as "Polly of the Circus," and many other sterling films.

TWO GIFTS TO COLLEGE OF BIBLE ANNOUNCED

The College of the Bible is to receive a gift of $2,000 through the will of A. M. Jones, of Mayfield, who recently died at Jackson, Florida. Mr. Jones has been a staunch supporter of the college for years, and has made frequent gifts to it.

Another gift of $1,000 was made this week to the College of the Bible, coming without solicitation and as a voluntary expression of approbation of the institution and of the work it is doing.

Seed potatoes and onion sets at Vanarsdell's.

Camargo and Vicinity

Rev. Dawson filled the appointment at the Christian church Sunday with morning and evening services. This was his first service here since December. The community welcomes his return.

Marshal Johnson is out again after a week's sickness.

Mr. Bramlett, who resided on the Henry Judy farm on the cross pike, has moved back to Nicholas county.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mayes have purchased a lot in Camargo from Miss Pink Ricketts and will erect a bungalow.

Sunday evening about 2 o'clock a wind storm closely related to a cyclone, visited this section and quite a little damage was done. Allie Treadway had a garage destroyed, the larger part of which was carried clear across the pike and scattered in a corn field. James Greer's barn was damaged, as were also barns of Mr. Tolliver, on the Oldham pike; W. F. Horton and Ray Moss. A house occupied by Buford Goodan had a portion of the roof carried away. Some tobacco beds were stripped of canvas.

Early sown wheat and rye have wintered good through the severe freeze, but late sowings were a flat failure.

Practically all red clover seed is sown in March and April, but can be successfully sown on tobacco land in September. Ray Moss sowed six acres last fall and has a nice stand.

Many farmers are using an equal amount of alsike clover with common red with splendid results.

Miss Nettie Chase has returned to her home from teaching school in Richmond.

G. W. Halsey, Allan Lovely and two sons went to Ohio last week looking at farm property.

Seed corn is going to be scarce again this year, as corn last year suffered greatly after first being put in the shock from excessive rain.

Miss Mary Jane Deady is still suffering from the after effects of the mumps, being left with a stiff neck. She is now taking electrical treatment and is improving.

No less than 100 cases of mumps have visited this section this winter, many heads of families "enjoying" them.

RURAL CARRIER EXAMINATION

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for the county of Bath, Ky., to be held at Mt. Sterling, Ky., on May 8, 1920, to fill the position of rural carrier at Sharpshurg, Ky., and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from other post offices in the above-mentioned county. The examination will be open only to citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of a post office in the county and who meet the other requirements set forth in Form No. 1977. Both men and women, if qualified, may enter this examination, but appointing officers have the legal right to specify the sex desired in requesting certification of eligibles. Women will not be considered for rural carrier appointment unless they are the widows of U. S. soldiers, sailors or marines, or the wives of U. S. soldiers, sailors, or marines, who are physically disqualified for examination by reason of injuries received in the line of military duty. Form No. 1977 and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned above, or from the United States Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C. Applications should be forwarded to the Commission at Washington at the earliest practicable date.

PRODUCE REVIEW

Production and receipts of eggs, especially at large markets, have shown very material increase during the week, resulting in lower prices, especially at eastern seaboard points where prices have been ruling relatively higher than at central markets, such as Chicago.

Easter demand for eggs has been quite heavy, and a generally satisfactory trade has been reported.

Production of eggs is now at its height as is usual during the months of April and May, and the surplus over current receipts will go to Chicago.

Receipts of live poultry are extremely light, indicating that the farmers are holding their flocks on account of egg production.

The demand for frozen poultry is good; stocks are moving freely into consumption and the total stocks appear to be slightly lower than previous year.

Actual arrivals of Danish butter and prospective arrivals have influenced lower butter values, especially at large centers.

Production of butter in the United States is showing an increase.

AT THE CHICAGO CONVENTION

Delegates from Kentucky and other states to the Republican National convention in Chicago may be interested in learning that they are not expected to have anything to do with the nomination of a Republican candidate for president. Of course, they are to assemble at the convention hall, and go through the form of casting their ballot for some one of the candidates, but lest any of them labor under the delusion that they are to really have any voice in the selection of the Republican candidate we are printing for their information and guidance a recent statement made by Harry M. Daugherty, who is manager of Senator Harding's campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

"I don't expect Senator Harding to be nominated on the first, second or third ballot, but think we can well afford to take our chances that about eleven minutes after 2 o'clock Friday morning at the convention when fifteen or twenty men, somewhat weary, are sitting around a table, some one of them will say, 'Whom shall we nominate.' At that decisive time the friends of Senator Harding can suggest him and can afford to abide by the result."

The above statement is part of an interview given out by Senator Harding's campaign manager, and was intended to boost the chances of his chief for securing the nomination.

Mr. Daugherty is a Republican of the old school, and he reveals an intimate knowledge of the workings of Republican National conventions. The delegates, a thousand or so of them, are there, to be sure. They are given some latitude in their voting so long as a nomination cannot be made. The bosses indulge them to air their views at the convention hall, and enjoy themselves generally.

But about eleven minutes after 2 o'clock on Friday morning (why the unlucky day?) the real work of selecting the candidates will be done. Fifteen or twenty men will gather around the table. Boss Penrose will be at the head. Boss Bannan will be there. So will Boss Crane, and Smoot and Hirt. The situation will be gone over. Each candidate will be appraised. A decision will be reached, and the Republican candidate for the presidency will be named. Then a messenger will be selected. Maybe it will be Mr. Hirt. Anyway, somebody will go out of the ante-room to the convention hall, tell the boy whom they are to vote for, the last ballot will be taken, and a Republican nominee for president will be put forth as the overwhelming popular choice of a convention that was a people's gathering, and assembled to register the people's will.

Former Sheriff Indorses Tanlac

"Money Couldn't Buy the Good It Did Me," Says Hon A. R. Anderson

"Money could not buy the good Tanlac has done me, and I gladly recommend it for what it has done in my case," said Hon. Archie R. Anderson, of Houston, Texas, ex-sheriff of Harris county, recently.

Mr. Anderson is unquestionably, not only one of the best known, but one of the most popular men who ever held public office in the state of Texas. After serving as deputy sheriff of Harris county for twelve years Mr. Anderson was elected chief of police of the city of Houston. He had occupied this office only a short time when the sheriff of Harris county died. Mr. Anderson's friends persuaded him to make the race for the unexpired term of sheriff, to which he was easily elected. He was honored with re-election seven different times and served the people in this important office for fifteen consecutive years. Then Mr. Anderson declined re-election and retired to private life. He cast his lot among the people of Houston and is a large property owner and foremost citizen of that interesting and prosperous city.

"I was in a run-down condition," continued Mr. Anderson, "and had no appetite at all. I could hardly sleep at night and never felt like getting up in the morning. I was so tired. I had the worst form of indigestion, suffered all the time from gas on my stomach and was continually belching up undigested food. I had to take my coffee without sugar, as when I drank it with sugar I would just belch for hours. I would blurt and swell up like I was poisoned and suffered with neuralgic pains of the worst sort, and nothing seemed to help me only in a temporary way. I just can't tell you how I did suffer for the past four years, and up to the time I began taking Tanlac, a few weeks ago.

"When I read the testimonials of some who had been relieved of troubles like mine I just felt like I couldn't make a mistake by taking Tanlac, and it has done even more for me than I had expected. I began to feel better after taking my first bottle and have just now started on my third, and I'm a different man already. I sleep like a log now, and eat just any and everything I want without the slightest discomfort afterwards. I am glad to endorse Tanlac, because it does the work, and I'm telling all my friends just what I'm telling you. I never felt better in my life than I do since taking Tanlac. I am willing for you to publish my statement, and let every suffering person who may wish, benefit by my experience with this great medicine." Tanlac is sold in Mt. Sterling by Land & Priest.

The Steering Committee is the supreme authority in the House of Representatives. The Republican majority is dominated by seven men who undertake to decide not only what is good for their party, but also what is beneficial for the country. The entire membership of the House has been forced to surrender to this committee all control and direction of legislation. The people of the country, including Republican voters, would be surprised, no doubt, to learn that only seven of 435 Representatives are deemed fit to determine what the nation needs and should have.

HOTEL ARCHITECT HERE

The latter part of last week an expert hotel architect was here looking out for a desirable hotel location, and was so favorably impressed with Mt. Sterling as a business city and her needs of a modern hotel that he is willing to materially assist in financing such an enterprise. Here is an opportunity for our people to assist themselves in providing Mt. Sterling with one of her greatest needs.

TRAINING LITTLE CITIZENS

During the early spring it is delightful to have something growing in the house or in the school room of interest to little boys and girls in what is going to happen very soon outdoors.

A father or the older boys in the manual training shop will make a rectangular box with glass sides, line the bottom with zinc, and have a glass cover which may be opened slightly to let in the air, the children

For Colds, Catarrh or Influenza

Do you feel weak and unequal to the work ahead of you? Do you still cough a little, or does your nose bother you? Are you pale? Is your blood thin and watery? Better put your body into shape. Build strong!

An old, reliable blood-maker and herbal tonic made from wild roots and barks, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This "nature remedy" comes in tablet or liquid form. It will build up your body and protect you from disease germs which lurk everywhere. One of the active ingredients of this temperance alterative and tonic is wild cherry bark with stillingia, which is so good for the lungs and for coughs; also Oregon grape root, blood root, stone root, Queen's root, all skillfully combined in the Medical Discovery. These roots have a direct action on the stomach, improving digestion and assimilation. These herbal extracts in the "Discovery" aid in blood-making and are best for scrofula. By improving the blood they fortify the body against an attack of grip or colds.

Catarrh should be treated, first, as a blood disease, with this alterative. Then, in addition, the nose should be washed daily with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Send 10c for trial pkg. of Medical Discovery Tablets or Catarrh Tablets to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

will have a fine little conservatory of their own. Put about four inches of rich soil in the bottom of the box and either plant or transplant into the soil some bits of growing life. For example, buy a small coco palm, some holly fern, a petris, any begonia except the Rex begonia, and a small asparagus fern, letting the last named trail along the soil of the little greenhouse. The earth should be kept moist, and the box set in the sunlight, preferably in a sunny window. The cover should be raised a little during the day to allow the air to enter, but not wide enough to permit too much of the water within the little greenhouse to evaporate.

If it is impossible to buy suitable plants, and it might be in some places, plant in the soil some seeds of common geraniums, of beans, oats, corn and some of sweet alyssum. These seeds will sprout quickly, and while the grains will not last long, the little geraniums and sweet alyssum will last a long time.

If you live in the country where woods are close by, then get some moss from underneath the leaves and some hepatica plants and put these in the small greenhouse. You may use a large fish bowl for the purpose, but the box with the zinc bottom is really a better arrangement. Any child will take a great deal of joy and pleasure in having a little conservatory of this kind, and will also take a greater interest in working in the outdoor garden because of this experience.

Has Winter Worn You Down?

Sickness That Lingers, or Strain of Caring for Others, Makes Spring Days Dangerous

GET BACK YOUR STRENGTH

Red Blood Means Old-time Vigor, and Pepto-Mangan Builds Rich, Red Blood

Perhaps you've been ill this winter—or others in the family have, and you've worn yourself out with extra burdens. And now your strength is slow to return.

Week after week you've felt too tired for anything, and have looked it, too—color bad, eyes dull, and no enthusiasm.

When you don't feel well you are not well. Probably what you need right now is the good blood tonic, Pepto-Mangan. Physicians everywhere recommend Pepto-Mangan for run-down, anemic people. Ask your doctor about it. Pepto-Mangan supplies the things that blood-starved people lack. It puts iron and vigor in the blood. It paints the cheeks in nature's way, and restores the hearty appetite.

The blood is naturally sluggish in the spring and the whole family would profit by taking Pepto-Mangan which tones up and builds up. It is pleasant-tasting and soon makes you feel better. Your own druggist has it ready for your call, and in both liquid and tablet form, just as you prefer.

But to be certain that you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan, ask for it by the full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan." Look for the name "Gude's" on the package.—Advertisement.

NO SECRETARY OF STATE

The President has not had and could not have even an acting secretary since March 13th, on which date the statutory limitation on the Under Secretary of State, acting as Secretary, expired. Secretary Lansing's resignation became effective February 13th; the Under Secretary may be acting Secretary only for thirty days, hence Frank L. Polk's tenure as acting secretary expired March 13th. Since that date, it has not been possible to issue passports, because there has been no Secretary of State to sign them, and none in whose name they might be signed.

No decrees of the President could be issued; no laws enacted by Congress could be attested and have the Great Seal affixed; the President's signature to official documents could not be attested; no funds for the State Department could be disbursed and, in consequence, drafts presented against the State Department have had to go to protest. Breckenridge Long, Third Assistant Secretary of State, is disbursing officer for the Department, but may not disburse funds for the department, which includes the entire consular and foreign attache service, because the approval of the Secretary of State must be given.

Mr. Colby's nomination was sent to the Senate February 25th. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee delayed action, apparently to "get something on him." It even called in the secret records of the War Department, chiefly those of the Military Intelligence Bureau, because of his former connection with the Shipping Board. But failing absolutely to find anything in Mr. Colby's record to justify refusal to approve his selection, the committee has finally acted favorably. But this is no guarantee there won't be further delay in the Senate before confirmation is given.

TRANSYLVANIA HEROES

HONORED ON TABLET

A beautiful bronze tablet containing the names of Transylvania men who made the supreme sacrifice for their country in the great war has been received by the committee from the service men of the college, who had in charge the collection of funds for a memorial to these men.

Henry J. Tunstall, chairman of the committee, made a statement that before permanently placing the tablet in the chapel of Morrison College it would be on display for a time down town.

The names appearing on the tablet are those of Robert McLachlan, J. C. Hobbs, J. G. Boone, W. J. Donaldson, R. B. Hutcheff, R. G. Holbrook, H. H. Chinn, F. V. Meek, H. Galbraith, W. S. Yarbrough, J. W. Neal and C. Reddin.
